GOING OUT Guide

Tomorrow from 5 to 7 P.M. the public is invited to attend a forum on "Secrecy by Judicial Decree: the Case of Frank Snepp," presented by the Fund for Free Expression. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that the Government shall receive all profits from "A Decent Interval," a book on the last days of the Vietnam War by Mr. Snepp, a former senior officer of the Central Intelligence Agency.

All aspects of the case will be discussed by a panel moderated by Anthony Lewis, columnist of The New York Times. Panel members will be Floyd Abrams, attorney in the Pentagon Papers case; Alan Dershowitz, professor of Harvard Law School and Mr. Snepp's attorney; Anthony A. Lapham, former general counsel of the C.I.A.; and Mike Wallace of CBS News.

The place is the second-floor auditorium of the House of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, 42 West 44th Street. With seating limited, early arrival is advisable.
